DESCRIPTOR.

Originally the name comes from the exercises conducted by the Special Forces Unit number 7 in 1992 in the water phase exercises that used the battery as an enclave in Cabo Pinar in the Bay of Pollensa, in which the course Special Forces commanders moved to the island for the phase of this prestigious course.

For this reason a way to continue keeping the tradition and way of recovering the history of the Unit, is called the event as "COPRINO-BRAVO".

THEME.

The Raid is called "tactical" as it combines the exercises that one would find in any sports Raid Guidance, but adding a series of tests of character or military orientation, based on the course of a simulation exercise of one infiltration and Extraction

The Raid takes as theme infiltration patrols in a hostile area, with coordinates plotted a path where they will test their skill and ability in achieving the goal, in this case must disable a ship supply and extraction of the area.
