INFANTRY WEAPONS 2012

Dear colleague,

Entering into its 6th year, Infantry Weapons 2012 features one of our most diverse speaker panels to date with representatives from over 10 nations. As the only conference in Europe dedicated to soldier lethality, it represents an unrivalled opportunity to not only hear from senior military officers and subject matter experts on cutting edge developments but also engage in two-way discussion about the future of infantry systems and their supporting accessories.

Please take this opportunity to examine our agenda and should you have any questions regarding any aspect of the event then please do not hesitate to contact our enquiries team on +44 (0) 207 368 9300 and remember, if you book before the 22nd June, you could save up to £300.

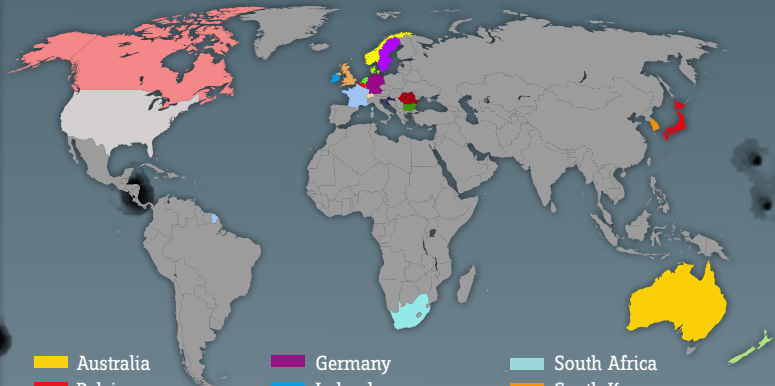

I hope this brochure finds you well and I look forward to meeting you in September

Very respectfully

Matthew Smith
Event Director, 6th Annual Infantry Weapons 2012

16.20 - 16.50 PANEL: THE FUTURE DIRECTION OF INFANTRY WEAPON SYSTEMS

- With many soldier modernisation programmes allowing images from soldiers primary weapon systems to be fed back into the larger C4I system, how will the associated risk of information overload be mitigated in an already information heavy operating environment?
- Is it time to begin considering a "next generation" of ammunition calibres to go along with the "next generation" of infantry weapon systems? Is the logistical simplicity of maintaining existing ammunition tooling worth the performance sacrifice of higher efficiency 6.5/6.8/7mm bullets?
- To what extent will airburst technology become a centrepiece of infantry capabilities within the next decade, and how will these systems likely to be distributed and used at the squad/platoon/battalion
- Are dual use anti-structure and anti-armour warheads the way of the future, or are they simply an answer to the immediate requirement for a cheaper, simplified system for use in current operational theatres?
